DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kim (US 6,014,616) in view of Gershman et al (US 6,356,905).

As to independent claim 1, Kim discloses a method for providing a mobile terminal with a software keyboard proper for the language of a country where it is located in a mobile communications network providing global roaming, comprising the steps of; constructing a database on the information of the multinational software keyboards in a server (col. 3, lines 52-63); transmitting the information on the proper software keyboard (col. 3, lines 52-67, col. 4, lines 1-40) to the mobile terminal by ascertaining the country. Kim does not disclose transmitting the information on the location of the mobile terminal to the server.

Gershman et al disclose a PDA/mobile portable unit using thin client server and incorporates a GPS system as shown in col. 57, lines 5-51. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to combine Kim with Gershman et al as Kim discloses a PDA/mobile portable unit using language conversion and Gershman et al discloses where the PDA services include geographical information, and where both systems can be based on a mobile network system.

Art Unit: 2675

As to independent claim 4, limitations of claim 1, and further comprising, a recording medium. Kim discloses, in Fig. 4, a cpu. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art that a cpu includes memory for storage.

As to dependent claim 2, limitations of claim 1, and further comprising, where in including the step of transmitting the information on another software keyboard requested to the mobile terminal instead of the software keyboard proper for the country where it is located (col. 4, lines 41-67).

As to dependent claim 3, limitations of claim 2, and further comprising, including the step of canceling the transmitting of the information on the software keyboard on the user's request (col. 4, lines 41-67).
